LORI FOWLER INVESTING IN MY COMMUNITY

As a successful real estate professional and businesswoman, giving back to my community has always been a priority for me. I believe that we are best equipped to serve the younger version of ourselves. For me, that comes in the form of mentoring and financial support to local youth pursuing their academic interests and supporting causes that are near and dear to me.

For over ten years, I have used my resources and influence to make a positive impact on those in need funding educational initiatives through the Lori Fowler | Naples Luxury Scholarship. Dozens of students have been the recipient of this unique and personalized scholarship attending schools locally and out of state.

Another focus of mine is addressing the needs of women and girls in Collier County through the Women's Foundation of Collier County (WFCC). As a part of the Women Lifting Women Cabinet at WFCC, we recently raised over $700k at our annual Women of Initiative luncheon to help Senior women who are facing homelessness and isolation in addition to providing mentorship opportunities for young girls at risk throughout Collier County.

My philanthropic efforts have been recognized by both my peers in the business world and the communities I serve. I was recently honored as the "most philanthropic" Realtor® by the Southwest Florida Real Producers organization, highlighting the awareness I bring to the causes I support. This was a great surprise and humbling honor as I work alongside several very generous and philanthropic agents that share their time, treasure, and talent throughout Southwest Florida.

As a woman in business, I believe in using my success to uplift and empower those around me. Through my philanthropic work, I aim to create opportunities for those in need and inspire others to do the same. My contributions serve as a reminder that business success is not just about making money but about making a difference in the community you call home.
